Independence Day

On Tuesday, July 4, dozens of Grayling area youngsters along with visitors to the community took part in the kids fishing contest, which is organized by the Grayling Youth Booster Club. ## Grant to pay to remove downtown building

A blighted property in downtown Grayling will be addressed through a funding program put together by state and city officials.

The City of Grayling received a $85,400 Community Development Block Grant from the Michigan State Housing Development Authority (MSHDA), which will pay to purchase and demolish the building located at 117 Michigan Avenue. The city will provide a $33,820 match for the project.

The funding for the project, which is administered by MSHDA's Community Assistance Team, is being made available through the Land Assembly Initiative. The initiative is designed to assist a community in acquiring and demolishing blighted properties to assist in the prevention of additional deterioration with a tradition downtown business district.

"This gives the community the opportunity to take control of the property and have more of a say on what occurs in their downtown areas," said Joe Borgstrom, director of Continued on Page 2A

Frederic Fire Department founder honored

by Dan Sanderson
Staff Writer

The last founding father for the Frederic Township Volunteer Fire Department, who was known as an all around good guy, was recently laid to rest.

Ernest "Ernie" Barber of Frederic died at his home on Saturday, June 24, shortly after being diagnosed with lung cancer. He was 67.

Barber lived his entire life living in the Frederic community on Cheboygan Street. He was among a handful of men who founded the Frederic Township Volunteer Fire Department.

Although he was a leader in founding the department, Barber preferred to stick with the rank and file and never sought an officer's role.

"He liked to stick with the firefighters and spent his entire time with the department serving with them," said Doug Pratt, fire chief for the Frederic Township Volunteer Fire Department.

Barber retired after serving 38 years with the department in 1998, but remained active with the fire fighters up until just over Continued on Page 2A

Ernest "Ernie" Barber was given a firemen's memorial for his funeral services held on Wednesday, June 28. He was taken from his home to the Sorenson-Lockwood Funeral home on a fire truck. He was then transported to First Baptist Church in Frederic on a township fire truck, then to the Oakwood Cemetery for his final fire run. Fire trucks from Beaver Creek, Lovells, South Branch and Otsego Lake Township Fire Departments took part in the funeral service as well as a fire fighting vehicle from Camp Grayling.

Assault suspect ruled competent for jury trial

by Dan Sanderson
Staff Writer

A 60-year-old Midland man accused of trying to stab a Hanson Hills employee with a knife and assaulting a sheriff's deputy while attempting to resist arrest was determined competent to stand trial last week.

A preliminary examination for Michael Jesus Archangel, who is facing charges of attempted homicide and police officer assault-resisting and obstructing, was scheduled for 2 p.m. on Tuesday, July 25.

The charges stem from an altercation which occurred at Hanson Hills on Friday, Feb. 3.

Darl Large, an employee at Hanson Hills who also works at Camp Grayling, picked Archangel up on Houghton Lake Road near the Roscommon-Crawford County line because his vehicle had broken down.

After getting in his car, Large said that Archangel put one hand on his shoulder and his other hand on his head, saying he was Continued on Page 2A a year ago, when he was diagnosed with congestive heart failure.

"It was his fire department, and if the young guys needed advice, they would come to him," said Sandy Barber, Barber's wife.

Barber was given a firemen's memorial for his funeral services held on Wednesday, June 28. He was taken from his home to the Sorenson-Lockwood Funeral home on a fire truck. He was then transported to First Baptist Church in Frederic on a township fire truck, then to the Oakwood Cemetery for his final fire run. Fire trucks from Beaver Creek, Lovells, South Branch and Otsego Lake Township Fire Departments took part in the funeral service as well as a fire fighting vehicle from Camp Grayling.

Frederic Township Volunteer Fire Department's tanker truck was dedicated to honor Barber's service.

"He always drove the tanker, that was his truck," Pratt said.

Whether at a fire department meeting or local eatery, Barber was never bashful about sharing his opinions.

"He always spoke his mind and never held anything back," Pratt said. "Whether it was good or bad, he would let you know what was on his mind."

Barber served one term on the Frederic Township Board, and also served several years on the township's planning commission.

"He did a lot for the Frederic community and was a real go getter," said John Nowlin, one of Barber's nephews.

Barber drove a truck for Welded Supply, an Ohio-based gas and oil pipeline construction firm. He was union steward for the Teamsters Local #406 prior to his retirement.

Barber enjoyed hunting, camping and trail riding. He was a regular at Frederic eateries for coffee breaks, and had a place reserved in his honor at Patty's Place of Frederic.

"He really enjoyed being busy all the time and doing things," said Andrew Barber, Barber's son. "He got around, he loved to joke with people and to be around people."

Barber also enjoyed spending time woodworking, making toy boxes for his grandchildren, knick knacks or other items that people and business owners inspired him to create.

"He'd come home and would get right after it," Sandy Barber said.

Ernest "Ernie" Barber

Aubrey Welch, a childhood friend of Barber's, recalled spending long days in the woods picking berries, building log cabins and fishing on the river.

"We were always together doing something," Welch said.

MSHDA's Community Action Team.

The property is owned by Mark Burbo, who lives in Trenton, and last housed the former DXR Computers.

The roof on the building is collapsing, and the interior is contaminated with mold and mildew.

"The building is in complete disarray, and needs to be demolished because it would be too expensive to repair," said Travis Roberts, fire marshal/inspector for the Grayling City/Township Fire Department.

The initial building was constructed in 1900, according to county records. An addition was completed in 1969.

Businesses including a barber shop operated by Burt McWilliams, Al and Jessie's Restaurant as well as a restaurant operated by Ema and Frank Bennett, a former Crawford County Sheriff, also operated in the building.

Larry McNamara, who ran Mac's Drugs in the building which now houses Riverland, recalled a man named Claude Cardinal who lived in an apartment above the business.

"He was a great baseball fan," McNamara said. "During the summer, he would have all the windows open, and you could hear the Tigers game down on the street and he would be holler-ing and yelling at the players."

McNamara said he believes that removing the building would create more parking opportunities and make downtown more pedestrian friendly.

"If they're trying to get people to walk downtown, this would open up the large parking area located behind the buildings and that may be a help for downtown," McNamara said.

The grant funds were part of $2.9 million Community Development Block funding that has been made available to 18 Michigan downtown communities across the state.

"Michigan's heart and soul is reflected in our unique downtown areas, whether big or small," Gov. Jennifer Granholm said. "This funding will help create opportunities for new development and economic growth in these downtowns."

MSHDA is a state agency that provides financial and technical assistance through public and private partnerships to create and preserve safe and decent affordable housing, engage in community economic development activities and address homeless issues. MSHDA's loans and operating expenses are financed through the sale of tax-exempt and taxable bonds and notes to private investors, not from state tax revenues.

going to bless him and started talking about satan and angels.

Fearing for his safety since Archangel started making threatening comments, Large eventually made his way to Hanson Hills, and ran inside the offices and told his colleagues to call 911.

When Jeremy Wilds, an Hanson Hills maintenance employee went outside to see what was going on, Archangel told him that he was god, that Wilds was the devil and that he was going to send him to hell. Archangel attempted to kick Wilds several times, before he got in a defensive position in an attempt to take him down. Archangel then pulled out a knife and tried to stab him. Wilds was able to avoid the attack by moving to the side and pushing Archangel's arm away.

Crawford County Sheriff's Deputies Shawn Schnoor and Ryan Swope responded to the scene.

Schnoor said that he saw a silver object in Archangel's hand, which he assumed to be the knife. Archangel continued to charge at the deputies, who had their hand guns drawn, despite several orders to drop the knife and stand still. Schnoor eventually sprayed Archangel with pepper spray so he could take him into custody.

Schnoor's knee was injured while he was attempting to handcuff Archangel.

46th Circuit Court Judge Janet M. Allen, at a court hearing held on Monday, July 3, accepted a report from the Center for Forensic Psychiatry, which determined Archangel was competent to stand trial.

Dawn Lacasse, Archangel's attorney, requested that a second report regarding Archangel's ability to understand criminal responsibility also be included in the court file.

Archangel suggested that there were significant errors in the reports regarding his account of what transpired on Feb. 3.

Allen said that it would be Archangel's responsibility to raise his issues with the reports in front of a jury since it is his burden to prove he is not criminally responsible for his actions. The author of the report could be called to testify at the trial, Allen said.

Archangel, who is being held in the Crawford County Jail in lieu of a $100,000 bond, faces up to life or any number of years in prison if convicted for the attempted homicide charge.

On court papers Archangel said he is employed through the United Domains of Heaven. On his Internet website, the United Domains of Heaven is described as God's Supergovernment, making earth's princes and princesses into heavenly kings, queens, emperors and empresses and providing a heavenly currency.

Archangel also says he is mounting a campaign as a Radical Conservative Republican for the 2008 presidential election.

Area woman completes missionary work in Kenya

by Matt Seager
Staff Writer

Everybody wants to make a difference. In a world full of problems, the need for people to take action is all too apparent.

One woman who has answered the call is Grayling resident Mary Nama, who just returned from a two-week missionary trip to Kenya.

Several members of the nearby Owosso Nazarene Church left for the country on June 30 to assist with work at the Africa Nazarene University in Kenya.

"In places like Kenya, especially for women, education is the key to not having a life with AIDS," said Nama.

The university was founded in the early '90s and offers programs in areas such as theology, computer science and business. The student body has expanded significantly since it was first built, so the American volunteers were there to help expand and renovate the facilities.

"We mostly worked with maintenance employees there," said Nama. "The job that I did, we were building a separate bathroom building."

Nama said she did other work as well, including tiling a classroom.

"You care about the people you meet there," said Nama.

Even in just two weeks, the differences between Africa and the United States were very apparent to Nama.

In Kenya, small things like titles can be a big deal. Leaders are not allowed to hold titles that imply that they are on the same level as Kenya's president. For this reason, the university president was called the vice-chancellor.

Of course, the food wasn't exactly the same, either. Baked beans were a popular breakfast choice.

There were some big differences as well. These days, poverty in Africa practically goes without saying, although Nama did not witness the full extent of the troubles that people in the area are experiencing.

"We really didn't see the poverty and really didn't walk through the neighborhoods that had the poverty because we were working at a university," said Nama.

Nonetheless, Nama didn't fail to notice that there was a great need in the country. For example, whenever local kids saw someone who was obviously a foreign missionary, they tended to expect food.

"As a Christian, it's humbling to be here and have so much," said Nama.

Going to Africa gave Nama a deeper appreciation of her own roots.

"I have what I have because I was born here in the United States," said Nama.

She noted that there was an interesting fusion of modern and traditional styles in one of the villages that she visited. The locals were acquainted with advanced technology, yet they still lived in huts made of sticks and manure.

"They are in the modern world, but they still live in this herding society," said Nama.

This fusion was exemplified by a picture on the men's room door in a Masai village, which depicted a traditional Masai warrior holding a cell phone.

Of course, Africa still has plenty of wonders to offer that are not available in North America. During her two week stay, Nama had the opportunity to go on a safari.

"Being able to actually see lions and elephants and giraffes...to see them in their home was a lot of fun," said Nama.

She said she would recommend missionary work to anyone who is thinking about helping out in a foreign country.

"It gives you that perspective of how much we have," said Nama. "To be able to see what it's like is an important experience."

Grayling resident granted U.S. citizenship

by Matt Seager
Staff Writer

American citizenship is a privilege that most Grayling residents have known since they were born. As of last week, one more member of the local community is now fully American.

"I love America a lot," said Thanh Do, who was sworn in as an American citizen on June 29.

Do is originally from Vietnam, but has lived as a legal resident of Northern Michigan for three years with her American husband, Hien.

Like Thanh, Hien is also originally from Vietnam, but has been an American citizen for 22 years. Hien met his wife while visiting family in his native country.

After the couple were married, they moved to Traverse City, where they lived for two years. They have been living in Grayling for the past year, and are both employed at Kim's Magic Nails.

"We like Grayling. They are good people. It's good for the kids," said Hien.

Hien and Thanh have two children, Natalie and Sophia. According to their mother, both kids are enjoying life in Crawford County.

"My kids love it. I want my kids (to) stay here," said Thanh.

Thanh herself is also having an easy time adjusting to life in the United States.

"I miss my parents and sister, but I have (my) husband and kids. That's enough for me," said Thanh.

Thanh, whose favorite

From left: Natalie, Hien, Sophia and Thanh Do. Thanh became a U.S. citizen on June 29, just in time to celebrate Fourth of July.

American food is steak, has already immersed herself in Northern Michigan culture.

"I go canoeing a lot," said Thanh.

Her overall favorite thing about being American comes as no surprise at all.

"Freedom...my life is good now," said Thanh.

To earn full citizen status, Thanh was required to take a test on United States history. She said that although studying for the test was "not easy," she found the material itself to be quite interesting.

Thanh passed the test just in time to celebrate her first Independence Day as an American citizen. When asked how she felt to celebrate America's birth as a citizen for the first time, she answered with one word. "Excited."

OPINIONS

ALMANACK

by Richard L. Milliman

Budget problems are not unique to Michigan

MICHIGAN HAS wallowed in the state budget morass for several years running – including 2006 – but budget problems are not unique to Michigan.

Just look at New Jersey this year. The situation there reminded some old timers of the storied “payless paydays” in Michigan back in 1959.

That was when a Republican legislature and a Democratic governor – the late G. Mennen Williams – reached an impasse on spending and taxes, as they had several times in preceding years. This time neither side would budge, and Michigan government came to a screeching halt ... momentarily.

No Michigan state employee actually missed a payday, however, when the executive and legislature went to political and philosophical extremes in a refusal to compromise. But the impasse made national headlines, and Michigan’s “payless payday” tag hung on in public lore.

IN NEW JERSEY this year, Democratic Gov. Jon Corzine closed down all non-essential operations of state government when the Democratic-controlled legislature failed to adopt a budget before the July 1 deadline.

In New Jersey, it was a case of Democrats fighting Democrats, with both legislative and administrative factions refusing to budge. Both did eventually, of course.

In the meantime, according to a report by Associated Press, state agencies furloughed 45,000 employees, and Atlantic City casinos had to close their doors because state inspectors were not available to oversee casino activities, and 36,000 casino workers were out of work.

Lifeguards and others who staff Atlantic ocean beaches and state parks also were furloughed, as the Independence Day holiday period arrived.

The stalemate lasted six days. All in all, it was a sorry mess, much worse than Michigan’s hours-long “payless payday” of 47 years ago.

In the end, compromise ruled the day. The crux seemed to be taxes, which is no surprise. The compromise deal will increase the state sales tax from 6 to 7 percent, which Democratic legislators opposed, and half the added revenue will be used to reduce property taxes.

Gov. Corzine, according to AP, “said the eventual budget accord was not cause for celebration because too many lives were disrupted.” A legislative leader said he thought in the end, the state and New Jersey citizens “are all emerging as winners,” AP reported.

The latter view likely is not shared by any of the 80,000 people who lost their jobs even temporarily.

And so it goes in running state governments these days. Budgets are problems all over.

MEANWHILE, here in Michigan unlike in the New Jersey fiasco, budget battles have been along partisan lines, with Democratic Gov. Jennifer Granholm and Republicans who control the legislature in frequent disagreement.

That’s why it was news the other day when the governor and legislative leaders announced a tentative budget deal for Michigan’s new fiscal year starting October 1.

At this point, the sides agreed that allowances for local K-12 students will go up $210 per student, which is $10 more than the governor proposed and less than the legislature wanted, and universities and community colleges will get a 3 percent funding increase. The legislature will work out the details later.

The deal also drops from the budget plans for a four year lifetime limit on cash assistance for able-bodied welfare recipients, which had been favored by House Republicans and opposed by Democrats. The legislature may take up the idea again, but outside the budget process.

Also, money was designated for a Michigan state police trooper school.

REPUBLICANS BOASTED that the budget will be balanced without raising taxes or ending tax exemptions Ms. Granholm seeks to close, and Democrats bragged that the plan “continues to protect the most vulnerable citizens, and improve public safety.”

Obviously compromise was necessary to come this far considering the often bitter infighting between Democratic governor and Republican lawmakers, and both sides deserve credit for those steps.

But the job is not done. The question of individual budgets for state departments is back in legislative hands. So are the details of the education increases as well as the nitty gritty of the next budget, and it’s a political truth that in making laws and writing budgets, the old saying prevails that “the devil is in the details.”

Will the spirit of compromise continue?

There are elections in November, of course, and the governor’s job and all the legislative seats now held by those involved in finalizing next year’s budget are at stake.

Maybe it’s just the cynic in me coming out, but the public will be wise to keep its collective fingers crossed.

There’s always hope.

Help save the past for the future

To the editor:

The Grayling area is rich in history and historic sites. Due to financial pressures, however, some of these historic sites are in danger of closing. Because of their importance to the area, both financially and in terms of saving the past for future generations, it is critical to pass the upcoming millage to raise money for historic preservation.

Many visitors are attracted to Crawford County to attend special events sponsored by these historic sites, to research their genealogy or be educated about the history of the area. These historic sites also offer annual educational programs to the students in our local school district. On

Aug. 8, a .2 mill proposal will appear on the ballot. This .2 mill would cost each average homeowner less annually than the purchase of one fill-up of gasoline for a small car. The money generated from this millage will be given to non-profit organizations who are involved in historic preservation through grants written to the Crawford County Board of Commissioners. I would hope that voters will consider voting yes on the Historic Preservation ballot proposal and help save the past for the future!

Many of us take care of business elsewhere

To the editor:

This letter is to let you become aware of the fact that many residents avoid shopping in Grayling because of the deplorable condition of North Down River Road heading to Grayling from the northeast section of the county.

The road conditions have and are taking a toll on our vehicles. We must staddle the center lane when oncoming traffic is not present. It is like traveling on an obstacle course. Many of us take care of our business in Mio or Lewiston. Grayling would be preferable but is avoided (and Grayling needs our business).

It was rumored some time ago that this route was going to be resurfaced, but that has not happened and we have not heard of any future plans. Please consider the loss of business and our concerns.

Writer urges support for historic preservation

To the editor,

Our County Commissioners recognized the importance of preserving the history of Crawford County and are placing a millage request on the ballot for the Aug. 8 election.

Now, it is up to us, the residents of Crawford County to do our part and support the 2/10 of a mil for four years request so that the groups in our county such as the Crawford County Historical Society, the Lovells Museum, the Michigan Museum for Military Transport, Wellington Farm Park or others can request funding from this millage to preserve our history.

We urge everyone to support the August 8 millage request for Historical Preservation in Crawford County.

Family understands importance of local history

To the editor:

Several years ago my parents heard a knock at their door. When they opened the door they were greeted with Hi! I'm your Uncle Don.

When Uncle Don found out he was adopted, he petitioned the State of Michigan and had his adoption records opened. The name of his parents and their origin was revealed.

He came to Grayling, the historical society and Fay Bovee for help finding his family. You may wonder why I am sharing this with you. It is because my family and I would have missed a great blessing if Uncle Don had not received the help he needed in finding us.

I am asking the voters of Crawford County to support the Historical Preservation Millage. My family and I understand first hand the importance of preserving our local history.

VIEWPOINT

By Cheryl Postma - Shelter Director of the Animal Shelter of Crawford County

Wondering why the shelter won't accept your unwanted cat or kitten?

Wondering why the animal shelter won't accept your unwanted cat or kitten? First of all, there are several friendly, loving and playful altered cats that have been waiting for many months to be adopted. We are not going to euthanize them just to make room for more. But let me explain the situation further.

The shelter can house a specific number of cats and can't afford to care for extras. Your tax dollars do not pay for the care of cats at the shelter. Crawford County contracts with the Animal Shelter of Crawford County to care for only stray dogs brought in by Animal Control or law enforcement. Anything we do for cats comes out of our meager funds, the vast majority of which comes from donations.

The shelter is a private, 501c3 nonprofit facility and cannot pay for the care of all of this county's needy cats. We wish we could, but housing shelter animals is expensive. There is the cost of feeding and giving these animals proper veterinary care, as well as the labor involved in caring for them to consider. We also have high utility bills, payroll and maintenance expenses.

Space is an issue. There isn't enough room to safely hold every unwanted, stray cat or litter of kittens in this county. Shelter cats kept in tight quarters can have a very real chance of dying from fast moving upper respiratory illnesses. Over crowding caged cats causes stress, which leads to illness. Kittens are very fragile and frequently do not survive in a shelter that's too full for a quarantine area. If we take in too many cats and kittens, we will end up saving only a few...if we're lucky.

For those of you who try to clear your conscience by bringing your cat and its litter to the shelter, you better think twice! You are doing those tiny kittens and your loving companion no favor at all. (I refer back to the paragraph above.)

And, if you let your female cat roam because you can't stand her yowling while she's in heat and gets pregnant, it's your responsibility, not the shelter's problem. Have your cats spayed or neutered. Your roaming unaltered boy kitty is just as much to blame for this heartbreaking problem.

We have a waiting list exclusively for cats coming into the shelter. If you have a cat needing rescue, I suggest you very nicely request that your name and information be placed on our list. If you call the shelter, get angry and verbally abuse the staff member on duty or myself, as has been happening quite frequently lately, we will not put you on that list. We also keep a list of cats lost and cats found in an effort to get them returned to their owners if they stray.

In the near future we will move to our new shelter facility. But remember, that does not mean we will then be able to take in every unwanted cat. It only means that the cats in our care will be housed more comfortably and in safer conditions.

In the meantime, we will continue to help animal owners in this community as much as we can. We offer low-cost spay/neuter assistance year-round. We always have some suggestions for people who sincerely wish to have their cats altered. But it is up to all of us in this county to take care of our cat overpopulation issues.

Shelter staff and volunteers do not deserve your anger or abuse. We understand your frustrations, but we are not to blame.

Otsego Memorial offers CPR with AED training

Learning CPR and first aid has long been a requirement for certain people in the workplace who may be expected to respond to an emergency situation, said Mary King, RN, BSN, Coordinator of Community Health Education for Otsego Memorial Hospital.

However, in the case of the layperson, it has only been in recent years that we have seen an increased use of valuable lifesaving equipment - portable defibrillators, or automatic external defibrillators (AEDs). Their success in helping to save lives has resulted in their widespread use and has resulted in the demand for more courses that include training in use of AEDs.

Otsego Memorial Hospital now offers such courses for laypersons that include this training. The Heartsaver First Aid with CPR & AED course is offered on August 8, at Otsego Memorial Hospital. The course is suitable for lay rescuers who may be called upon to respond to emergencies in the workplace. These may include teachers, coaches, daycare providers, security guards, firefighters, police, and other lay responders. The cost is $60, which includes the required textbook and course materials. Pre-registration and payment is required prior to class.

The Heartsaver First Aid with CPR & AED course is a comprehensive training session for the lay rescuer or first responder. Participants in the course have the opportunity to learn cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR), first aid, use of an automated external defibrillator (AED), and relief of foreign-body airway obstruction (FBAO).

This course is specifically designed for those participants who require a course completion card, a credential documenting completion of a CPR/First Aid course.

Course content includes CPR and relief of FBAO of adult, child and infants, first aid and operation and use of the AED. It also includes instruction for mouth-to-mouth ventilation and rescue breathing, as well as use of barrier devices that are typically used during CPR in the workplace.

"We're proud to offer this educational opportunity for those who need renewal for their CPR/First Aid certification or for those who are seeking first time certification," King said. "We're fortunate that many public places and work-sites now have lifesaving AEDs available, and that people are seeking the training on how to use them - before there is an emergency. Undoubtedly, this equipment and training are valuable resources for our community."

For information about the program or to have registration information mailed to you, contact King at (989) 731-2193 or visit our website at www.otsegomemorialhospital.org. Click on events, and scroll to the Apr. 18 listing for Heartsaver First Aid with CPR.

Community Forestry Grant applications available

Applications are now available for the Department of Natural Resource's (DNR) Community Forestry Grant (CFG) program. This year, funding will again be focused on Management and Planning activities, including: community tree inventories, community tree ordinance development/revision, and writing assessment-based management plans for the community forest resource. Proposals for education/training activities, tree planting and purchase of library resources related to regional natural resources will also be accepted.

Through this program, local units of government, including counties, cities, townships and villages, non-profit organizations, tribes and educational institutions are eligible to apply for funding to enhance urban and community forest resources. This year, approximately $100,000 will be awarded statewide for projects that can help your community enhance the benefits of trees, incorporate new technology, promote volunteerism, conserve and/or expand community tree cover and stimulate community pride and support this valuable resource.

Visit www.mi.gov/dnrufc to download the 2006-07 application and materials. To receive an application packet by mail, contact:

Virtual bridge walks unite Michigan communities

Virtual bridge walks are being held throughout the state in conjunction with the Mackinac Bridge Labor Day Walk to support "Getting Michigan Moving." These walks link communities together in the name of health, fitness and active living much the same way as the Mighty Mac links Michigan's two peninsulas. Labor Day walks are the grand finale to the Active Michigan Summer campaign, an effort to encourage citizens to use the warm months of May through September to become or stay active with a goal of walking five miles on Labor Day.

Michigan has nearly 10 million people and about 50,000 walk in the traditional Mackinac Bridge Labor Day Walk each year. The aim of the Governor's Council on Physical Fitness, Health and Sports is to double or triple the number of Michiganders walking on Labor Day by promoting physical activity and fitness. Currently 34 communities from Benton Harbor to Saugatuck are taking part in the Active Michigan Summer Campaign by hosting their own five-mile "bridge walk."

"By holding local events all across the state, we hope to increase the number of walkers on Labor Day and bring attention

The Bible Speaks

Religious Hypocrites Condemned by Ritualism

Paul reminded the Jews in Romans 2:25 that circumcision is only a symbol meant to reflect the real substance. "For circumcision verily profiteth, if thou keep the law: but if thou be a breaker of the law, thy circumcision is made uncircumcision." Circumcision could only be a sign of righteousness under the law if they kept the law perfectly. The Jews did not understand that the purpose of God's law was to prove their guilt, not save them. "Now we know that what things soever the law saith, it saith to them who are under the law: that every mouth may be stopped, and all the world may become guilty before God. Therefore by the deeds of the law there shall no flesh be justified in his sight: for by the law is the knowledge of sin." (Romans 3:19,20).

Paul reminded the Jews that even uncircumcised gentiles who lived better moral lives than they did would appear to be circumcised. Romans 2:26 teaches us that substance exposes symbols and reality exposes ritualism. "Therefore if the uncircumcision keep the righteousness of the law, shall not his uncircumcision be counted for circumcision?" As Galatians 5:6 teaches, "For in Jesus Christ neither circumcision availeth any thing, nor uncircumcision; but faith which worketh by love." This is the faith father Abraham had before he received circumcision as a sign and seal of his righteousness by faith. (Romans 4:11,12).

Paul told the Jews they would be judged even by the natural justice of uncircumcised gentiles who lived better lives than they did. "27And shall not uncircumcision which is by nature, if it fulfill the law, judge thee, who by the letter and circumcision dost transgress the law?" He is reminding them that one is not made righteous by an outward sign or symbol. Galatians 6:15 reminds us that we must be born-again and become a new creature in Christ Jesus. "15For in Christ Jesus neither circumcision availeth any thing, nor uncircumcision, but a new creature."

Finally, Paul reminded them in Romans 2:28 that outward symbols and appearance did not make them Jews or God's people. "28For he is not a Jew, which is one outwardly; neither is that circumcision, which is outward in the flesh. 29But he is a Jew, which is one inwardly; and circumcision is that of the heart, in the spirit, and not in the letter; whose praise is not of men, but of God." Salvation is of God, by His Spirit, within the heart, not by men through legalism and outward symbolism of the flesh.

As Colossians 2:10-12 reminds us, "10And ye are complete in him, which is the head of all principality and power: 11In whom also ye are circumcised with the circumcision made without hands, in putting off the body of the sins of the flesh by the circumcision of Christ: Buried with him in baptism, wherein also ye are risen with him through the faith of the operation of God, who hath raised him from the dead." It is our personal faith in the person, work, and word of Jesus Christ which saves us, and not outward symbols whether it be circumcision for Jews or baptism for Christians. As God said in 1 Sam. 16:7: "...man looketh on the outward appearance, but the LORD looketh on the heart." Pastor "B"

Rock for the Ages

Big Rand & Company played a variety of classic rock tunes from the 60s, 70s and 80s last Thursday. A full crowd representing all age groups was evidence of the timelessness of the songs played. Their performance was the second part of the Summer Music Series, which features a different musician performing on the Citizen's Bank lawn every other Thursday from 7-9 p.m. The next show will feature The Wise Guys on July 20.

GHS graduate completes study abroad in Russia

by Matt Seager
Staff Writer

Like many forward thinking students from Crawford County, Frederic resident Jamie Pinkelman, who graduated from Grayling High School in 2005, decided to take a couple classes this summer.

She didn't go to Kirtland. Nor did she go to her regular campus at Michigan State University. She decided to try something different. She spent six weeks studying at Volgograd, Russia.

"I wanted to study abroad and Russia and Mexico were the only two options I really had for math, and (Russia) seemed more interesting," said Pinkelman.

Pinkelman left for Europe on May 18 as part of a six week study abroad program hosted by her school, Michigan State University. She was joined by about 80 other students, making it one of the largest study abroad programs in the country.

Although her classes were held in Volgograd, she also visited the world-famous cities of St. Petersburg and Moscow, as well as parts of Germany.

"I've always been interested in going to Russia or Moscow, because of all the cathedrals and everything. I thought it'd be interesting to see," said Pinkelman.

The first city she visited, St. Petersburg, left a strong impression.

"It was really cold and rainy. It was full of tourists," said Pinkelman.

The tourists disappeared as she adjusted to life in the smaller city of Volgograd. Here, many of the differences between the American and Russian standards of living became immediately apparent.

There was no clean drinking water, except for bottled water. Other facilities, such as rest rooms, were substandard from the American point of view.

"Everything was kind of like, crowded and smelly," said Pinkelman.

Poverty, and many of the social problems that come with it, were evident throughout the city. The most powerful political force in the area was the local mafia.

"It made me appreciate a lot of what I had in Frederic, Michigan," said Pinkelman.

In the particular region that Pinkelman stayed in, there were also noticeable civil equality issues.

"Volgograd is very geared toward guys, as the ratio of women to men is three to one," said Pinkelman.

She noted that the locals were not particularly outgoing, either.

"It seems hard to get to know people or befriend anyone," said Pinkelman.

Nonetheless, she noted that not everything about the Russian people was all that different from Americans.

"Russians are very nationalistic and really have a lot of pride in their country," said Pinkelman. Fashion, music and trends were familiar as well.

"Russian culture really wasn't too different from any other Western culture," said Pinkelman.

Russia itself has made some very important contributions to Western culture and history. Pinkelman was able to see some of these historic landmarks for herself, including the Red Square and Lenin's tomb.

Pinkelman returned to the United States on July 3, just in time to participate in Grayling's Independence Day parade the next day.

"I was very excited to be back for the Fourth of July," said Pinkelman.

Pinkelman has been in Russia during that country's equivalent holiday, called Constitution Day.

"It was interesting to compare the celebrations," said Pinkelman.

She said that although she's not sure she would want to go to Russia again, she is "glad for the experience nonetheless."

"It's quite an eye opening experience and I recommend (for) anybody (to) take the opportunity if they have it," said Pinkelman.

CGCC announces birdhouse contest winner

Most of us who have had children in our local school system are probably aware of the Camp Grayling Conservation Club (CGCC) Birdhouse Contest.

The club offers a birdhouse kit to local fourth graders. They assemble the kit and place it on their property or someone else's with permission. The first student to have baby birds hatch wins a new bicycle.

Makayla Cragg, from Mr. Marc Winton's fourth grade class was this year's winner. She discovered 10 baby chickadee eggs in her birdhouse, on May 15, with five baby chicks already hatched.

The Bicycle Shop of Grayling, co-sponsored of this event.

The 'Biggest Big Top on Earth' is coming to Grayling

In America today, there remains only one big-tented circus, which manages to maintain the traditional demanding schedule of one-day stands. It's the 70th Anniversary edition of Carson & Barnes Circus, bringing its hundreds of performers and animals to the Crawford County Fairgrounds in Grayling on Saturday, July 15, with shows at 2 p.m. and 7 p.m., hosted by the Grayling Regional Chamber of Commerce.

Carson & Barnes brings its city-block long "Biggest Big Top on Earth" to some 200 other towns and cities each season, moving to a new site nearly every day, seven days a week. Emphasis is on bringing this type of family entertainment to communities of America where local civic organizations often share in the advance ticket sale proceeds.

While other circuses have reduced their size, Carson & Barnes has expanded and is the only organization still capable of moving a huge show of some 50 vehicles, including trucks, trailers and RV's every 24 hours.

The four-generation Miller family has successfully owned and operated Carson & Barnes for 68 years. The late D.R. Miller, founder, and known as "Mr. Circus," was recently inducted into the "Circus Ring of Fame" in Sarasota, Fla., and the "Circus Hall Of Fame" in Peru, Ind. His legacy of American family entertainment is being carried on by his daughter, Barbara Miller Byrd and her husband, Geary Byrd, and his granddaughter's families who are involved in the day-to-day hands-on operation and movement of this complex, multi-faceted community.

Carson & Barnes is circus history and magic recreated before your eyes, making for a great media event. Elephants still help erect the big top and the general public is invited to the setup at the Crawford County Fairgrounds circus morning to watch. More than 100 exotic and domestic animals are unloaded, fed and watered as soon as the huge transports pull onto the grounds. Early birds can watch as the first units of the caravan begin arriving about an hour after dawn and continue to file in most of the morning. Hundreds of stakes, poles and several miles of cables and ropes are laid out and prepared as the crew and trained elephants push, pull and lift the approximately 300-foot Big Top of the shining polyvinyl auditorium 40 feet into the air.

The performers are artists from around the world, including the United States, Mexico, Peru, Chile, Argentina, Russia and Italy. Acts consist of aerial trapeze, high-wire, motorcycle acrobatic teams, jugglers and clowns, along with performing elephants, camels, dogs and horses.

Highlights of the show include our Grand Spectacular Parade, which this year features a "Salute to the United States of America" displaying our beautiful hand made costumes and animal blankets. Featured acts include:

The Incredible Flying Fernandez Family featuring a triple somersault.

Brothers from South America walk across the wire seven-man high.

The giant Wheel of Destiny features feats of balance and agility blindfolded.

The biggest and most stunning aerial ballet from high atop the circus tent.

A daring motorcycle ride up the wire while a woman performs on a bar suspended below.

Millers Majestic Prancing Ponies - always a hit with children of all ages.

The best elephant act performing under a big top.

The circus generally does two performances a day, with seating of 2200 per show.

The Carson & Barnes Circus

and the Miller/Byrd families have established the Endangered Ark Foundation to provide for endangered species, and operate a breeding program for the extremely endangered Asian elephant. This facility had its grand opening and dedication in 2003. Our two a half year old baby elephant Obert, is very special to us, and is a by-product of our breeding program.

Advance general admission tickets are available at the Grayling Regional Chamber of Commerce at special discount prices before circus day or you may choose to go online and get tickets at full price at www.carsonbarnescircus.com. On Circus Day advance general admission tickets can be upgraded to preferred seating for an additional charge.

Free children's tickets, with paid adult admission, are available at the Chamber, Riverland and 7-Eleven in Grayling.

For more information contact the Chamber office at 989-348-2921.

Milltown Groomer Gets a Facelift

Both the interior and exterior of the building that houses Milltown Groomer are being remodeled. The three week project will include the addition of new carpet and ceilings. Construction staff are working around Milltown Groomer's schedule so as not to disrupt regular business hours. "We're just remodeling it to make it look more attractive," said building owner Fred Fedak. "The improvement is more for self-image than anything else."

July events are scheduled at Wellington Farm, USA

The month of July brings two special events to Wellington Farm, USA. The first, Sticky Buns Day, is a traditional event that is one of our most popular. The second is a brand new event at Wellington - Wellstock '06 - a rock concert at the Jackpine Theater featuring live local bands.

Sticky Buns Day is July 15. A favorite with visitors to experience the amazing aroma of these "not diet friendly" fresh-baked rolls drifting through the park. Stop at the Summer Kitchen to taste the delicious treats.

Ride into the park accompanied by experienced interpreters who will narrate your tour. You can exit the shuttle once in the park and enjoy a walk through the historical buildings or down the nature trails. Shuttle service will be available to transport you back to the Visitors' Center once your visit is complete.

On July 22 from 6 p.m. - 10 p.m., Wellington Farm, USA will host the inaugural concert that they hope will become a regularly scheduled part of the activities at the Farm. Playing off of the original Woodstock rock concert of the '60s, will be "Wellstock '06". The concert will showcase seven of the best new rock bands out of Grayling, Gaylord, and Petoskey. Some tickets remain available and they can be purchased at Wellington or in Gaylord at the Cybertech Cafe. Admission is $6 per person and concessions will be available at the concert. All proceeds raised will benefit Phase II of the Stittsville Church Project.

While at the park for Sticky Buns Day, don't forget to purchase your "Drive n' Dine" Raffle Tickets. They will be on sale at the Visitor's Center and in the Farm Market. First prize is a Ford pickup truck; 2nd prize is a side of beef processed for your freezer; and 3rd prize is a pig, also processed for your freezer. The raffle drawing will be held during the Wellington Farm, USA Free Fair on Sept. 23 at 4 p.m. at the Visitor's Center and you need not be present to win. Tickets are $5 each. All proceeds will support Phase II of the Stittsville Church Project. Phase II continues on with church restoration and developing a fund to build a restroom facility in the park.

The Farm Market is open everyday. Stocked with the fresh produce and homemade goodies. Be sure to pick up a copy of Wellington Farm's new "Country Goodness" Cookbook, full of traditional 1932-era recipes. It can be purchased at the Farm Market and are also available at their online store through their website.

Wellington Farm, USA is located on S. Military Road, three-quarters of a mile south of 4 Mile Road. The Farm is open to the public every Monday through Sunday from Memorial Day weekend through November 1, and then for the December events as scheduled. Park hours are from 10 a.m. - 5 p.m. daily. Admission is $6 for adults; $4 for seniors and students. Season passes are available for $30 for individuals and $50 for a family pass.

For specific event information, call 1-888-OLD-FARM or visit us on the web at www.wellingtonfarmpark.org.

Fourth of July Festivities

A girl shows off her skills in a hoola hoop contest during Grayling's Independence Day festivities last Tuesday. The Fourth of July parade was followed by kids' games in the park, sponsored by the Grayling Youth Booster Club. Good weather helped this year's event to have one of the largest turnouts ever.

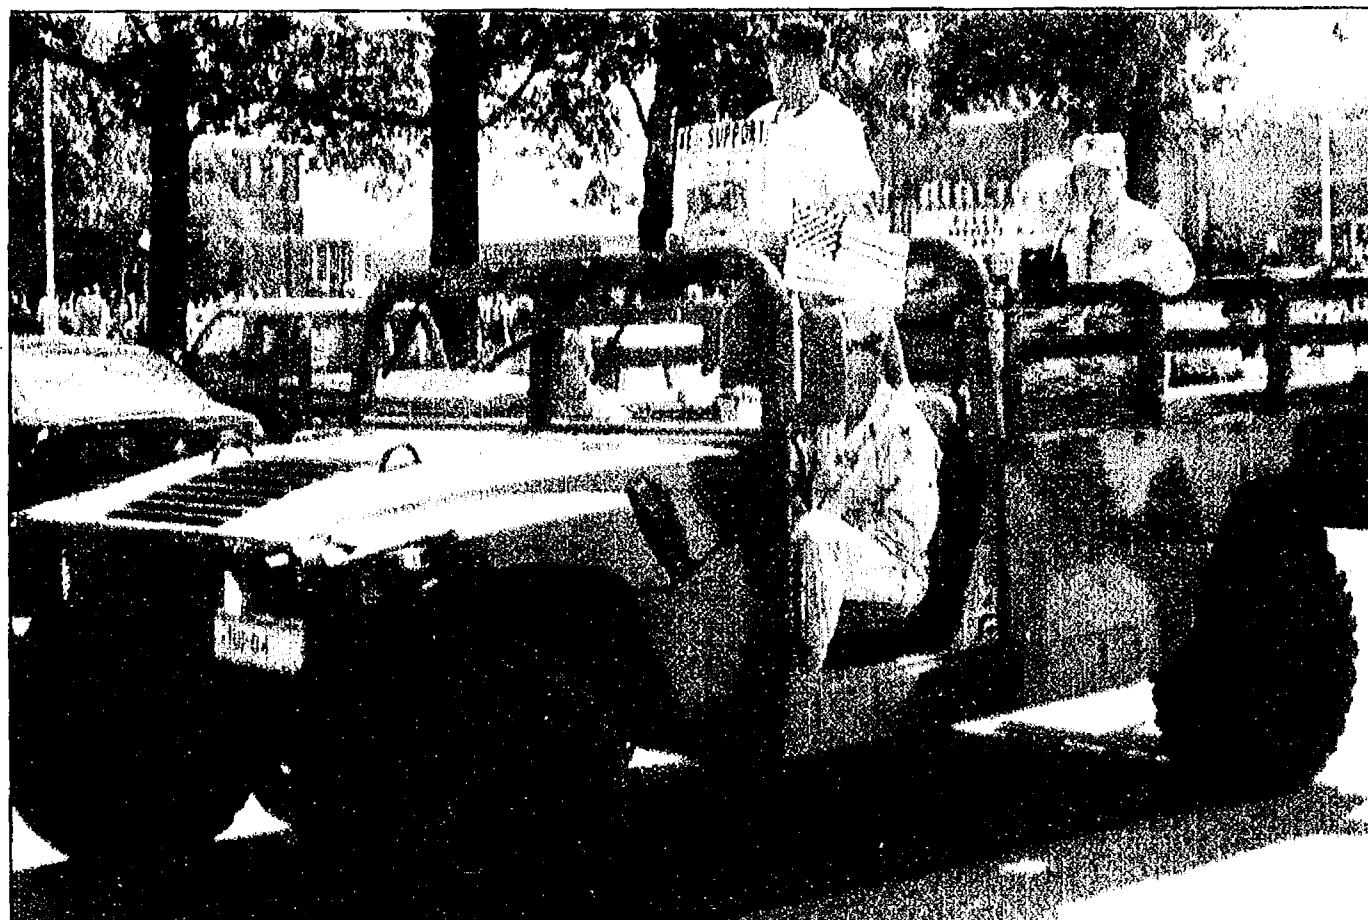

Record numbers of people took advantage of the concession stand operated under the pavilion in city park, manned by Grayling Youth Booster Club members. Above, Max Tobin grills hot dogs for the sale.

A pair of singers perform their favorite tune at the karaoke contest in the park, hosted by Dharma Records. The top three in finishers in the 12 & Under division were Amanda, Christina (last names not available) and Jessica Oldenburg. Winning the 13 & Up division were Donna and Dee DeVoght, followed by Melissa Riley and John Harmon.

Wayne Nelson, husband of Rose Mary Nelson, who is currently in Iraq managing a Post Exchange store for the troops, rode in the parade with local National Guard Troops in support of his wife. Rose Mary Nelson is a manager of the Post Exchange operated at Camp Grayling.

The Grayling High School cheerleaders hosted a free throw competition in the park starting at 5:30 p.m. A large number of kids showed up to test their basketball skills.

Tattoos were the must-have fashion for youth at the kids' games this year, as is evidenced by the girls pictured here. Patriotic face painting was also a popular look.

GRAYLING COUNTRY CLUB NEWS

by Donna Thomson Wednesday Ladies League

A sunny but cool day welcomed the Wednesday Ladies League gals on July 5. It was evident that a lot of our golfers had a lot of company for the July 4 holiday, as we had low turnout and some that were there were very tired.

In Flight A, Mickey Perez had a low net of 28 while Donna Thomson had low putts of 14. In Flight B, Sharon France had a low net 27 and low putts of 11. In Flight C, there was a three-way tie for low net of 42 between Evie Kent, Mo McNamara, and Gloria Nielson.

Since I've been writing this article, this next feat is a first, I believe: Sharon France had three chip-ins - one on #2, one on #5, and one on #8. Sharon also had a birdie on #1 and Mickey Perez had a birdie on #7.

The Cornell Insurance mystery game was for best poker hand with our scores and Kathy Olson had five fives, so she won the umbrella this week.

Very soon our handicap tournament will be starting, so I will apprise you of the outcome.

After a nice lunch of a roast beef sandwich and chips or a Greek salad with rolls and butter, some of the gals returned to their company, while others went out and got in another round of golf. Hate to pass up a sunny day. That's all "fore" now.

KIRTLAND BASKETBALL

Academic All-Conference - Basketball: Emily Henion, of Frederic, 83 credits, 3.434 GPA; Emilee Bruner, of Mio, 70 credits, 3.782 GPA; and David Allison, of Lapeer, 77 credits, 3.010 GPA.

Academic All-MCCAA - Basketball: Emily Henion: 83 credits, 3.434 GPA; Emilee Bruner: 70 credits, 3.782 GPA.

Academic All-American - Basketball: Emilee Bruner: 70 credits, 3.782 GPA.

Academic All-Conference - Golf: Anton Gersten, of Prescott, 39 credits, 3.017 GPA.

To qualify for All-Conference recognition, the MCCA stipulates a student athlete must have earned a 3.0 grade-point average for 36 credit hours of classes. All-state recognition goes to those earning a 3.2 GPA for 36 credit hours. To be named an Academic All-American, a student athlete must have completed three semesters of college work and have participated in at least one season at the varsity level, with a cumulative GPA of 3.60 or better for 45 credit hours.

Kirtland participates in men's and women's basketball, men's and women's cross country and men's golf as part of the MCCA. The college is also a member of the National Junior College Athletic Association.

Ho-hum, Capricorn. Life has become routine and you're bored. Shake things up with a small purchase. The mountain of work assigned to you begins to get smaller.

March 21-April 19

The move for independence is on and the desire to break away from a family member's grip is strong. Ease out of the situation as gracefully as possible and don't look back.

June 22-July 22

The lure of the lights beckons you. Time to get out of your shell and show everyone what you're made of. A blast from the past heats up the weekend.

September 23-October 22

An old friend suffers a memory lapse. Try not to blow it out of proportion. Libra. They feel bad enough as it is and what they are experiencing is just the tip of the iceberg.

January 20-February 18

Wake up, Aquarius. Your family has a stake in the pie, too, and could use your assistance. A tribute to independence highlights the week.

April 20-May 20

Don't let pity be your best friend this week, Taurus. Forge ahead and focus on what is important. There is more than meets the eye to a financial proposal.

July 23-August 22

Feel free to be yourself this week, Leo. No one is looking over your shoulder and expecting you to be something you are not. A memo causes quite a stir.

October 23-November 21

Ready, set, go, Scorpio. That home improvement project cannot be put off another moment. A slip of the tongue at work lands you in hot water.

February 19-March 20

A young friend is like a train wreck waiting to happen. There really is nothing you can do or say to stop them, Pisces. All you can do is wait and catch them when they fall.

May 21-June 21

The need to reverse your financial situation becomes clear. Start by talking to a professional. They will have the answers you're seeking. A hand of friendship is extended.

August 23-September 22

The pursuit for information leaves you empty handed. Better luck next time. A compliment from an admirer puts you on cloud nine and makes for a great day.

November 22-December 21
